

Smithsonian
National Museum of the American Indian

PRELIMINARY ABSTRACTS

for

PRESENTATIONS AND POSTERS

for the

International Mountmaking Forum

at the

Smithsonian

May 5-6, 2010

— THE —
OLD MONARCH ARE AN UN-COMMONLY RARE SPECIES.

The Old Monarch butterfly is a rare species that is found in the mountains of the Sierra Nevada range. It is a member of the Pieridae family and is known for its distinctive orange and black markings. The butterfly is found in the mountains of the Sierra Nevada range, where it feeds on the leaves of the mountain pine. The Old Monarch butterfly is a rare species that is found in the mountains of the Sierra Nevada range. It is a member of the Pieridae family and is known for its distinctive orange and black markings. The butterfly is found in the mountains of the Sierra Nevada range, where it feeds on the leaves of the mountain pine.

